*For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels,
nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come ... shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.*

The Summer of '62

*Thirty days has September,
April, June and I remember
That on the last of June of '62,
A knot was tied between us two.
Our faith in love was plain to see
And hope was high for the life to be.
Apartment living and teaching school,
Two incomes and a swimming pool.*

*Life like this was oh so neat,
'Til the doctor confirmed the patter of feet.
A house was purchased, a child was here,
Our life was changed without a tear.
A change in jobs, another child,
Time was marching, but the pace was mild.
Our one income was wearing thin,
But through it all you kept up your chin.*

*A change in jobs and on to Big D,
The future was bright with sales the key.
But fate had another hand to deal,
The twins arrived with a stereo squeal.
Life had turned in a very short time,
To total involvement and an uphill climb.
But our life is cast and we can't go back,
Just buy a big home on a cul-de-sac.*

*Build a pool and work like hell,
Raise the kids and hope they excel.
Pass on to them the experience we know,
Love them well and watch them grow.
Time will come - to our dismay,
With children grown and moved away.
Once again it is just you and me,
To live and love 'til eternity.*

*Thirty days has September,
April, June and I remember
The last of June of '62,
When I married the daughter of John Askew.*
